

A is for Abandoned, attitudes adopted

By.

Kadie
Kelly

cynosure

Looking through

A pink lens

The bellows blew

Before her face

Everything feels

A bit different

*Abandoned	1. forsaken or deserted. 2. unrestrained or uninhibited. 3. utterly lacking in moral restraints. Uninhibited. But in a pink way. Uninhabited until now. Say it together, pink runs the show.
Bellows	1. device used for producing a strong current of air, often to produce heat. 2. the lungs, also Bellows, George Wesley, 1882-1925, U.S. painter. The sway of my skirt determines the weather around here. Say it together my skirt dictates the weather.
Come	1. to approach or move toward someone or something. 2. to arrive by movement or progression. Come to know pink as an organ of the highest intelligence. Come look at the proof!
Decorate	1. to furnish or adorn something ornamental or becoming; embellish. 2. to design the interior of 3. to confer distinction upon by a badge, medal or the like. Pink blossoms, pink light, pink glitter, pink quill, pink ink, pink journal, pink walls, pink rooms facilitate pink vision. Pink think-ing.
In Excelsis	1. : in the highest degree In excelsis pink.
Forgiving	1. disposed to forgive or showing forgiveness. 2. offering the chance to recover from mistakes; tolerant. Pink forgives. You can't hurt it. It's not a god/dess. It will not punish or ever forsake you. It will always just be.

GitHub	1. : like the brain, stores and manages information. Unlike the brain, a repository many people can work on all at once; tracks history, iterations, changes Technology that runs the pink non-linear way. As a side, when it has big controversies it fixes them instead of hides them.
Helioplex	1. : a formulation of broad-spectrum ultraviolet (UVA and UVB) skin protection containing avobenzene and oxybenzone made by Neutrogena. Consider the side effects of the protection you seek.
Inquiry	1. : a seeking or request for truth, information, or knowledge. 2. : an investigation, as into an incident. 3. : a question; query. What do you want to know? Everything I need to know is revealed to me at the right time and in the right sequence.
Joke	1. : anything said or done to provoke laughter or cause amusement. 3. : something amusing or ridiculous. Someone told me you look like an owl. (Owls represent wisdom, knowledge, change, transformation, intuitive development, and trusting the mystery. They are tied to the spiritual symbolism of “death” which brings about new beginnings with a higher understanding and evolved perspective. Owls can show up when you are being asked to listen to your intuition.)
Knowing	1. : affecting or revealing shrewd knowledge or secret information. 2. : having knowledge or information, intelligent. Going beyond intentions. Knowing something bigger and better can happen if I don't apply a choke hold.
Letting	1. : to allow or permit 2. : to allow to pass, go, or come Letting go of control. Letting things happen. Letting you know. Letting go of sharing joy with people who only want to see you suffer. Letting go of toxic situations. Letting go of my mother. Letting go of needing it to be a certain way.

Meander	1. : to proceed by a winding or indirect course 2. : to wander aimlessly; ramble 3. : a winding path or course I only know how to meander. Pink meanders. Isn't pressed.
Not	1. : used to express negation, denial, refusal, prohibition, etc It's not what you think it is. It's not what you think it isn't either. Not you, too.
Open	1. : not closed or barred at the time, as a doorway or passageway by a door. 2. : a public or unconcealed state or position We opened the gate. The sun openly shines. We can open our eyes.
Period	1. : menstrual cycle 2. : space of time 3. : end point Striving for life. Resisting an endpoint. Flowing through time.
Questions	1. : inquiry; interrogation Curiosity uncovers mysteries otherwise hidden. We can honor our questions by asking them, by thanking them for coming to us, to point us in the direction of our next step.
Remember	1. : awake 2. : record Our memories as reference points to where we have been and how far we have come.
Studious	1. : deliberate 2. eager 3. : intentional We can labor towards messy change and improve
Twilight	1. : half light 2. : an intermediate state that is not clearly defined 3. : a period of decline Pink appears at twilight
Underneath	1. : below Facts, feelings and story, like an iceberg, mostly below the surface.
Venison	1. : the edible flesh of a game animal and especially a deer He went hunting every winter but I never knew what venison was until much later in life.

Why	1. : for what cause, reason, or purpose If you won't tell me I will have to leave.
X	1. : an unknown quantity, 2. : to cancel or obliterate with a series of x's —usually used with out There is x amount of violence in their thoughts. There is x amount of love in their hearts. Let's x-out the mistakes of the past. No, let's make them right.
Yes	1. : used as a function word to express assent or agreement 2. —used as a function word to indicate uncertainty or polite interest or attentiveness Yes can mean different things. It's hard to know. Better to say hell yes if you really do mean it though.
Zero	1. : denoting the absence of all magnitude or quantity 2. : to bring to bear on the exact range of a target —usually used with in Zero time for things abandoned. Zero-ing in on pink thoughts, pink process, pink power.

*“A generous heart is always open, always ready to receive our going and coming. In the midst of such love we need never fear abandonment. This is the most precious gift true love offers - the experience of knowing we always belong.” — Bell Hooks, All About Love: New Visions